Greetings Lodi Academy Families!

Spring is here! This week started with students enjoying one last day of Spring Break while all Educators and Pastors across Northern California Conference met for a one day in-service on conflict resolution training. Yes, students got to enjoy an extra day of Spring Break while teachers got to be students for the day!

Our campus was once again alive with students as we enjoy the Spring weather and tackle the final quarter of the school year. Some of the highlights this week include the Physics class going on an indoor skydiving field trip and the music department preparing for their fundraiser concert on Sunday night.

Here are some things that are coming up quickly on our calendar:

Saturday night, April 2 the Student Association are having a lip-sync contest fundraiser in Loewen Chapel starting at 7:30pm.

Sunday night, April 3 the Music Department is doing a fundraiser concert with refreshments, auction, and raffles for sale too! Doors and concessions open at 6pm and the concert will begin at 7pm. Tickets available at the door!

Next weekend (April 8 and 9) is Lodi Academy Alumni! Friday, April 8 is refreshments at 6:00 with classrooms open for tours and memorabilia set up in the Library. At 7:00, Campus Ministries is leading our vespers program in the Chapel. Sabbath morning, honor classes, including those from the previous two years when we did not have alumni, will be recognized. Pastor Janeen Little, former chaplain and teacher at Lodi Academy is the guests speaker. The Lodian Singers will be singing for the morning service also. Please come and be a part of celebrating our 114 year history of education at Lodi Academy!

Skiing Through God's Mountain Wilderness: A Devotional

By Albina Jacobs

An event that I enjoyed greatly this semester was the ski day. I would love to go back next year. While skiing on the slope, all you can do is really look around at God's creation and life.

It was so fun connecting with nature and having a blast playing in the snow with friends, just chatting, and having funny conversations on the way up the Mokelumne chairlift. Even the lesson was pretty fun, learning how to improve with friends.

One highlight from this trip for me, was probably racing one of my friends down a slope and crashing into a pile of snow. We all had a good laugh about that. My favorite run of the day was the jumping run. It was fun to challenge myself and see how far I could jump without falling, which, it turns out, was not very far.

I felt an incredible connection to God while skiing. At one point, I stopped at the top of a slope and just looked around at the beauty God created. Everything went well, and I believe everyone had a great time, and thankfully no one got hurt. Once I got home I was exhausted, but I had lots of great memories to think back on.

Psalm 96:12 says "Let the field be joyful, and all that is therein: then shall all the trees rejoice". During ski day, I realized that I can find joy and love in God's creation. Just by looking around at all the trees and animals showed God's love for me.
