LODI ACADEMY

4/29/2022

Greetings Lodi Academy Families!

May is almost here! We are in the final month of school before graduation and it isn't going to be any slower! We had another busy week with projects and classes happening along with Guy's Volleyball Senior Night, last night's Student Association Party, and so much more fun coming up next week!

We are blessed to have amazing teachers and staff at Lodi Academy. Besides teaching their classes, our teachers are involved in so many other school related activities. The Lodi experience would not be the same without them. Next week just so happens to be teacher appreciation week and while we are grateful for what they do all year, next week gives us the opportunity to do so in a concentrated way.

As we begin the first week in May, we look forward to waving to you from our booth at the Lodi Street Faire on Sunday. Student from the Academy will be there to help make art projects with younger kids visiting the faire. Later in the week our Concert Band and Lodian Singers will be going on music tour to Southern California, performing at schools and churches, doing a recording session with musicians at Disney, and having fun at Disneyland. Thank you to Pastor Jerry Mahn, our music director, for organizing this, and for all the parents and staff that pitched in to make it possible!

As we enter this last month of this school year, we are already heavily into making plans for next year! We know you have choices when it comes to where your students spend their highschool years. We want you to know we are grateful and proud to have your students spend them here with us. It's hard to see students graduate and leave but we are proud of these kids and we know you are too. If you have feedback that would be helpful to our planning for next year please share with me at: Principal@LodiAcademy.net.

The Renaissance Fair

Hundreds of costumed visitors gathered on the chapel lawn this past Sunday for Lodi Academy's Renaissance Fair. The afternoon's medieval-themed activities included artificial grape stomping, Mr. Haesche at his blacksmith forge and Mr. Brassington showcasing a printing press, mini-tapestry weaving and a spice-identification game, giant chess, face-painting, a castle-gate and bridge photo booth, Mr. Solis jousting in the bouncy castle, as well as a live demonstration of the trebuchet catapult constructed by Physics students in Dr. Cooper's class.

Senior's Arabian Night Booth

Guests and academy families also enjoyed a sumptuous array of food sold by each class, including the tenth grade Thai food booth, which won the award for best meal. Among all the amazing outfits on display, it was our youngest class, the ninth-graders, who won best dressed class. The seniors were awarded best-decorated booth for their elaborate Arabian Nights themed tent complete with a flying carpet, and Erin Anderson won the individual award for best costume.

Our eleventh-grade students came away winners in the competitions for juggling and spice identification. The SA points tally is sure to be a close one this year! Those with a sweet tooth were able to enjoy the baked goods at Mrs. Silber's booth, which had been prepared ahead of time by the ninth-grade life skills class. Mr. and Mrs. McCann with Mrs. Hernandez sold blended drinks to raise money for the music tour, and there was even cotton candy for sale at the SA booth with accompanying games.

The Junior Class

Some of the more memorable moments were seeing Joshua Narvaez and Ian Forncrook as the coconut-clopping knights without horses, the junior's Japanese Food booth ringing their gong, Reina Nozaki expertly painting detailed scenes from the Renaissance on wooden boards, and freshman Ethan Lalas in his real metal armor.

One of the main highlights of the fair were our guest actors and musicians: The New Queen's Ha'Penny Consort, in their beautiful costumes, who provided accompanying music, theatrics, and lessons throughout the day, and again during the evening variety show. Mr. Surridge was the organizer and host on stage as the trebuchet was fired, and class jugglers competed. The day ended with a performance by the Lodian Singers in costume, directed and accompanied by Pastor Jerry Mahn on the piano.

Thank you so much to everyone who was able to attend our Renaissance Fair, and especially to the dozens of hard-working volunteers, students and staff who made it possible. The thousands of dollars raised will ensure that Lodi Academy students will be able to plan meaningful campus events and attend unforgettable class trips.
