"He has shown you, O man, what is good; and what does the Lord require of you, but to do justly, to love mercy, and to walk humbly with your God?" Micah 6:8.

This verse gives incredible insight into what God has called us to be! Because of what God has done for us, He calls us to do good, show mercy, and live in a relationship with God, acknowledging He is God and we are not! This is the heart of Christian education at Lodi Academy! Our mission is to create an environment that encourages students to have a relationship with God that is lived out in their everyday lives.

Things to look forward to at Lodi Academy: Monday, January 15 is Martin Luther King Jr. Day. There is no school! There is no school on Tuesday, January 16 either. This is a professional development day for Lodi Academy faculty.

As Americans are remembering Martin Luther King Jr. this weekend, I am reminded of our recent study in Dual Credit United States History class on the Reconstruction period after the Civil War. During this time period, significant amendments to the United States Constitution were ratified, giving African Americans (former slaves) equal rights. Tragically, many of those rights were not realized until almost a hundred years later when Martin Luther King Jr. led the Civil Rights movement. The harsh reality was that changing laws did not change the hearts of people. Humanity is transformed by love rather than laws. The power of Martin Luther King Jr. was not that he was a politician, but a preacher, who realized that only through a change of heart could Americans live up to the promises they had made.

The best model of that type of love comes from Jesus. Micah 6:8 is a calling for all of us today to be followers of Jesus to fight for justice, show mercy to those who are not like us, and to live in a relationship with God!
